

THE LATE ELECTIONS.

It is not necessary to go into any figures in regard to the late elections, since every one is informed of the general result. We may be pardoned however, late as it is, from referring to Virginia, and joining in the general expression of gratification which attends the auspicious result. It was a victory complete, triumphant. No shadow of doubt attends it. It required no clearing away of any mists of uncertainty, no rising of the smoke from the battle ground to reach the result. The glorious sun of a certain victory beamed upon the field and proclaimed at once the brilliancy of the success.

To Virginia, the event is fraught with the most enduring consequences. It relieves her at once and forever of the doubts which clouded her pathway, and starts her on in a full, vigorous career to the full development of her mighty resources. She can no longer fear the baleful influences of overshadowing ignorance, and the deadly blight of dishonesty and corruption. Her control has come into the hands of her best, her purest, and her wisest men, men imbued with an ardent devotion to the commonwealth, and likewise imbued with those new energies for material development which have been so widely awakened.

It will settle also that restless feeling of craving desire on the part of the most ignorant of her population to stand at the head of affairs; and put a stunning quietus upon the white leaders of that element which has sought to use it to their own advancement.

To us in North Carolina it holds out the word of cheer and encouragement, and a pregnant warning to the Conservative party to hold fast to its integrity, and not permit internal bickering and senseless jealousies, to endanger the position the Conservative party had attained.

That party has gained much in the past, but it may be assumed that its position is not permanent as that gained by the same party in Virginia for the reason that the opposition here has among its leaders men of much more influence from higher social standing than it had in Virginia. And they will be untiringly watchful to seize upon any weak point in the Conservative party of North Carolina and strike for victory.

We may justly be grateful to Virginia for the example given and we must be wise enough to profit by it.

CAPTURE OF THE VIRGINIUS.

This vessel was an American steamer employed by the friends of the insurgents of Cuba to carry in arms &c., in aid of the patriots. She has had an adventurous career, having been pursued repeatedly and in one instance captured by the Spanish cruisers, but released on the enforced demand of the American Squadron on the ground that the capture was made in foreign waters, and after the accomplishment of the purposes of her voyage, and that consequently her national character was resumed.

Recently, she was pursued and captured, and destroyed, her crew taken ashore, and four of the most prominent tried before a military commission, condemned and shot.

The capture is stated to have occurred in the high seas, beyond Spanish jurisdiction, and it is claimed that it is an offence against the law of nations, and the interpolation of the American government is asked.

The execution is in keeping with Spanish character, and would seem to demand the action of the civilized world to punish and restrain such offences against the laws of humanity.

It is a question however, whether a nation determined to maintain the integrity of its territories, has not the right to adopt such measures, however revolting, when counteracting the persevering aggressions of what it regards as filibustering expeditions.

COTTON MARKET.

Cotton continues low and dull with a still declining tendency. Last sales in New York, Uplands 14 1/2. Wilmington from 11 to 12 1/2 as to grade. Raleigh 12 to 12 1/2. Norfolk, low middlings 12 1/2.

No immediate improvement can be looked for, and planters will hold or sell, according to their necessities.

Receipts at the ports are 30 per cent behind those of last year for the same time, which however of itself does not indicate that deficiency in the crops. Yet it is undeniable that there is a large deficit.

DEATH OF GEN. W. J. HARDEE.

The South is called again to mourn the death of another of the heroes of the War. Gen. Hardee has passed away. He is too well known to derive any advantage from any eulogium of ours.

We are sorry to see on the part of a portion of the Conservative Press in the State a capricious mood, a spirit of fault finding, of recrimination, of a disposition to assume that their views are alone right, and that whatever is not in accordance with them, is wrong.

Now a press is not free which has not the fullest liberty of properly expressed criticism, and a party becomes at that moment despotic which demands strict obedience to every party behest. But in the exercise of this right there must be just and certain cause for reproach and condemnation, that the accused stand acquitted before the world for his complaints.

Nothing human is ever perfect. No party coming into long disused power can ever do exactly right, and meet all the expectations of its friends. The hopes of men long ground under the heel of oppression, and the subjects of every injustice and wrong look to their succession to the place of their former tyrants as a Millennium, where every evil shall vanish, and every good be at once effected.

We are led to these remarks by those of the Salisbury Watchman upon the letter of Col. Allen of Duplin. We will not undertake at this time to defend the course of the last or the present Legislature. We admit some shortcomings, as such will be found in every body. But who will undertake to say, that either of those bodies could have done more with the subjects specially complained of, without bringing down at once a recoil of public opinion, as to have swept the party from existence, and brought the State under radical rule from whose enormities it had just escaped with so hard a struggle.

The Public debt, or rather the provision for its interest, could have been attended to, but that would have involved the full recognition of the whole, the greater part of which was, and is still, believed, illegal. No legislator, with a full knowledge of the impoverishment of the people, felt justified in evading this enormous additional burden, when there was the near future prospect of partial relief under Constitutional amendment.

And so of other subjects. But our object was to beg our friends to cease this impolitic and unnecessary strife and to confine themselves to provisions for the future, and to leave alone recriminations for the past. The main duty and business of the Conservative party is to strengthen its position, and secure the victory it won in 1870, all of which is endangered, and will be lost, if factious opposition or unreasonable complaints are to become subject matters of discussion by the Press of the State.

The radical party will wake to victory some morning and rejoice in an unexpected and unbought triumph, which the Conservatives will throw into its hands through idle bickerings and unmanly jealousies. The Virginia Press set an example of zeal and unanimity which may wisely be imitated. Their mission was to save their State from the mirage of ignorance and corruption. The lesson is not less imperative on the Conservative press of this State, and if through their fault, the conservative party is torn by jealousies and split by dissensions, and the property and the intelligence of North Carolina are remanded to the control of those who had once so signally abused their trust, a crime will have been committed which no lapse of time can lessen, and no amount of repentance expiate.

THE STATE DEBT.

There seems to be a general concurrence of opinion in regard to the State Debt, and the unalterable resolve to disregard absolutely the Special-tax bonds. We have already stated our views and will not now reiterate them.

The Wilmington Post says it does not care a cent for the special tax bonds, so long as the holders shall keep them. In this view, the Post will have hosts of endorsers, and it is wise in him to agree in advance in a decision upon their fate, which is inevitable.

DEATH OF MRS. LEE.

This admirable lady, widow of the beloved General of the South, died last week at Lexington, Va. In our local columns will be found an interesting letter relative to the event and we call attention to the excellent article from the Petersburg Index and Appeal.

We refrain from comments of our own.

Uddersook, who has been on trial at Westchester, Pa. for the murder of Goss, has been convicted. This is one of the most remarkable cases of crime on record.

Kemper's majority in Virginia is 27,903, a gain over Walker's vote of 9,632. Kemper received a large number of colored votes—a good sign that this class is finding out its best friends and its true interest.

The permanency of the present French Government seems to be assured by the determination to continue the term of McMahon for ten years. Chambord has utterly destroyed his prospects by his reiterated adherence to the doctrine of Divine right, which are so far behind the spirit of the age, they can no longer be tolerated.

The yellow fever has nearly disappeared from Memphis and from all the other afflicted points. The deaths in Memphis from the disease have been at least fifteen hundred.

There is little or no improvement in money affairs, and there is a general prostration of business. Many manufacturing establishments have closed or reduced their working force. Nearly all rail roads have curtailed the number of their trains, discharged many employees, and cut down the pay of the balance.

What may be regarded as the prospects of Canarism as seen through the light of the late elections at the North? We would venture to say a third term will not be heard of again, and the other aspirants for the Presidency might draw a relieved breath.

A boiler explosion occurred in New York on Monday, instantly killing 7 persons, and among them a beautiful and accomplished young lady who was passing at the time.

Mr. Neyle, formerly a wealthy citizen of South Carolina, committed suicide in a low house in New York Saturday night.

Judge Underwood of the U. S. District Court was assaulted in Richmond on the 11th, by W. N. McVeigh, of Alexandria. Underwood still holds possession of property belonging to McVeigh which he seized during the war, and which various decisions of the Courts have adjudged as wrongfully taken, but which Underwood still holds—hence the assault.

Abdel Kader, the famous Arab Chief, who was captured by the French in Algeria, and held prisoner in Paris has just died.

The Captain and thirty six of the crew of the Virginian were executed at Santiago de Cuba on the 7th inst. and on the next day twelve Cuban volunteers on a vessel, were shot.

The State Fair at Montgomery, usually a magnificent affair, has been indefinitely postponed on account of the stringency of the times and the lingering fears of yellow fever.

It is understood that H. B. Claflin & Co., of N. Y. intend to turn $6,000,000 of dry goods into cash within the next 30 days, beginning on Tuesday. This will be a chance for cheap purchases.

Ex-Gov. James of Nebraska has been indicted for theft for appropriating $3,000, while in office. His predecessor Ex-Gov. Butler was impeached for theft. Nebraska is a bad school of morals for Governors.

The pressure is having the effect of closing many establishments and throwing out of employment large numbers. In N. Y., 30,000, and in Philadelphia, 35,000, have been discharged. It is very calamitous at this season of the year.

The Virginian affair engages, as it should, the attention of the Administration, but as yet nothing definite is known to have been resolved on.

It is said that an Iron-clad is ordered to be equipped with all despatch, which may have some connection with the affair.

Gen. Hardee was buried in Selma, Ala., on Saturday last amid a general outpouring of the people. The funeral procession is said to have been the largest ever seen in the State.

On election day in New York, $7,856 were collected for Memphis. Very creditable to the charities of the citizens.

Legislature.

The General Assembly meets on next Monday, and being already organized, may go at once to work, which it is hoped it will do.

Peas.

Mr. Thomas Webb has handed us a specimen of the pea nut grown on a tree in his yard. The tree upon which these nuts grew was planted in 1848, and is now about 60 feet high, and has been four years in bearing.

It is a beautiful tree, resembling the hickory of the country in general appearance, but more graceful, and with a more beautiful foliage.

Many more varieties of nut bearings and other trees not indigenous could be grown with advantage, but for the general impatience of results and the fear that the planter will not reap the advantage of his labor in his day and generation.

Death of Miss Nancy Hilliard.

This venerable lady, so well known through the State and the whole South, died at Chapel Hill on Saturday morning at the advanced age of 85. She was born in Granville Co., Oct. 17th 1790.

Kind, and generous, she had the good will of every one, and lived, as she died, without an enemy. The many successive generations of students at the "Hill" will bear of her death with a pang of regret, that at last that tie, which had connected them in pleasant associations through the memories of her many kindnesses and hearty geniality, with the scenes of their happy early days, is at length broken, and that henceforth "Miss Nancy" as she was so familiarly called, lives only in their affectionate remembrance, and pleasant associations.

Good News.

We received a letter a few days since from Mercer county, Pennsylvania, informing us that he was at the head of a party of ten or more families who designed emigrating to North Carolina as soon as their necessary arrangements can be made, and that they are induced to prefer the county of Orange, and asking necessary information. We may hope to see them among us during the winter.

We hope they will be welcomed, and that every facility will be extended to them in the selection of lands and location.

Considerable consternation was created last week by the action of some of the magistrates in reference to the Bastardy Act, under the charge of Judge Towhee to the Grand Jury during the last term of the court.

The magistrates are required under the statute to look after all cases arising under it, & it appears that neglect had been here as elsewhere. Under the influence of the charge, there was a stir among the Magistrates, and a greater among the delinquents. A considerable number were brought into town, and entered into the necessary obligations.

Journalism.

The Charlotte Observer has changed its style of getting up, and is certainly much improved by the alteration. The paper is not only sprightly in its local columns but is able, reliable, and dignified in its editorial department.

Counterfeit Money.

In the great scarcity of currency in circulation, now is the opportunity for the counterfeit to put his bogus money on the market. It would be well to be on the watch, as it is well known that a large quantity is out.

The Hillsboro Advance.

The Hillsboro Advance has changed its base to Wilson, and has had the addition to the editorial corps of Mr. H. G. Williams. The paper is conducted with great ability, and is one of the best and most influential weekly in the State.

We acknowledge.

We acknowledge receipt of invitations to the Fairs at Charlotte and Fayetteville, and to the Agricultural Council at Petersburg.

The Tobacco Market.

It may be taken as a certainty that the Tobacco Warehouse will not be opened for sales until the subsidence of the panic and a full return of confidence. There is little nothing doing in Richmond, Danville, Durham or here. The prospect is a dull one for the planter, but it must be endured, for there is no remedy but what time will bring. As to when confidence will be restored, and money can be freely introduced, the ablest financiers are as much in the dark as the poorest tyro. The panic is a financial disease, beyond the cure of any known remedy, and it must apparently work its own cure.

THE TOBACCO MARKET.

The sales of Virginia leaf have been small in quantity and few in number this week. We hear of some transactions in primings at prices a trifle less than our quotations—that is, 3¢ instead of 4¢, for the higher range. Besides these transfers, we hear of a little business done in the better grades of good. The week throughout has been a sluggish one, no department of the trade having had much beyond a retail demand. Increased dullness prevailed in all branches of business, as a result of the depressed condition of affairs in some of the large manufacturing towns of the country. All markets are more or less feverish, and the report of an actual or even an expected suspension anywhere exercises an unfavorable influence upon every kind of traffic. Not much is being done, and not much is expected to be done, beyond the satisfaction of current wants, until confidence revives sufficiently to admit of accommodation all around.

One of the best of all signs of continued well doing, is the one we referred to last week, and that is the steadiness of prices in all lines embraced in our aggregate interest.

The reason for this stability in the line under the present caption is obvious enough, the stock being limited, and the time, being long before the new stock can be made available to take its place.

The Concord Sun has been enlarged to a six column paper, and much improved in general appearance. We hail this evidence of improvement with much pleasure.

Isam Haynes, an old colored man, well known in this town, died in his place last week. He was supposed to be about 75 years old. In the days of slavery, he once belonged to Josiah Turner Sr., and was sold to Georgia, from which State he returned directly after the war.

William Borland, son of Arch'd. Borland, dec'd, died here last week after a brief and very painful illness. He was about 35 years of age.

The work on Dr. Hooker's new drug store has been commenced, and is progressing as rapidly as the interruptions from rain &c will permit.

Visitors here say that Hillsboro presents less the appearance of being affected by the panic than any place in the county. Certain it is, that for some days past, there has been a brisk trade from the county, and the stores have all been fully crowded.

Hillsboro is up, while all else is down.

Corn shuckings are all the go now, and the corn crop is turning out the best the greater part of the county has had for a number of years.

The December No. of Demorest's Monthly Magazine is sparkling with Holiday Material, Holiday Fashions, Holiday Stories, Household Matters for the Holidays, Holiday Poems, etc., etc. But the most attractive of its Holiday features is the marvelous offer of the large and truly beautiful Oil Chromo, "The Old Oaken Bucket," to each subscriber as a Holiday Present. "The Old Oaken Bucket" is 17 x 20 inches in size, retailed at $15, and the best and most popular Chromo ever published, and yet is presented free to each $3 yearly subscriber for 1874. This throws all others premiums in the shade. What next? Address, W. Jennings Demorest, 838 Broadway, New York.

Over Exertion, either of body or mind, produces debility and disease. The usual remedy is to take some stimulant, the effect of which is the same as giving a tired horse the whip instead of oats. The true way is to fortify the system with a permanent tonic like the Peruvian Syrup, (a protoxide of iron,) which gives strength and vigor to the whole system.

NEAR CEDAR GROVE N. C.

Nov. 10th, 1873.

Mr. Cameron—Dear Sir, I noticed, a day or two since that in your issue of 29th ult. in giving the 'awards' of Orange Exhibitors at our last State Fair, your unintentional rob. our good old County of a portion of her laurels, in giving to Almonce the names of two of Cedar Grove's worthy denizens, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Smith. Mr. Smith for the best side Sweet potatoes and Mrs. Smith for best wool Corset and best Cotton Bed Quilt. Their goods were forwarded from Mebaneville, it being their P. O. and nearest Depot—hence the error. I also notice that the Recorder with State papers give a diploma to John T. Forrest for essay on best tillage of corn; it should be John P. Forrest instead of John T.—another of Cedar Grove's worthy citizens. We hope our Township may furnish a longer list of exhibitors next year, and also a largely increased list of subscribers to your most excellent paper.

Faxino House.

This excellent Hotel at Danville has been leased for three years by Mr. Nick Wade of Halifax Co. Va. Mr. W. is well known to the travelling public, and is one who has partaken of his fine breakfast at Danville, and will doubtless be a great boon to the public.

IN MEMORIAM.

Amid all the rush and excitement of politics and business, the people of the South will pause with sorrow and sadness, as they hear the heavy tidings which announce the death of Mrs. General R. E. Lee and of General W. M. J. Hardee. The former event took place Thursday night at Lexington, in the Valley of Virginia; and the latter at Wytheville on the same day.—May the both live forever in the hearts of the Southern people; as they live among their loved ones in that "land of the lost" and free, where misfortune can never enter and separation is no more known.

Few are the men, whatever their eminence and virtues, whom we would thus name together with the sainted relict of our dead commander. To her memory departed, as to her person in life, a peculiar sanctity attached, as to the wife of a hero, and the mother, as also the descendant, of a race of heroes. But the modest merits of General Hardee, his faithful, gallant and patriotic services, his exalted character, his pure Christian soul, and his blameless record, make him fit to be associated thus, in the coincident loss and the common grief of the South. One by "one these links which bind us to the great and illuminated Confederate past are broken. Nay, rather are they transferred to a higher realm; and our fidelity to that cause and that memory should but be strengthened, because of their influence, once strong in life, which now descend out of the very Heaven.—Index & Appeal.

V. M. L. LEXINGTON, VA.

Nov. 9th, 1873.

Editor of the Recorder—Believing Sir, that your readers would like to learn something of the death of the noblest woman of Virginia, Mrs. Gen. Lee—which occurred a few minutes to 12 o'clock, Wednesday night, I will endeavor to relate some of the facts.

Your readers doubtless know that this lady has been for several years past so affected with rheumatic affection as to be unable to walk about her house and lot. The only means by which she got about was that of being placed in a chair fixed on wheels, and rolled by her servant.

Her health has been fast giving way since Gen. Lee's death, it being necessary for her to visit the springs every summer. It is said that the death of her daughter Agnes, who has been in Europe, since last spring, adding its anguish to that great loss and great sorrow which three years of mourning had not allayed and no lapse of time could allay, hastened the progress of the disease and the approach of the event it is our sad office to chronicle.

While Miss Agnes was dying, a short while before her death, she asked to kiss her Mother good-bye. She was too weak to be lifted, and her Mother too weak to be carried to her daughter's bed-side. Thus her parting request could not be gratified. This is also said to have hastened her death.

As a mark of respect to the Corps of Cadets, this morning, at 10 o'clock, where, instead of the usual hour signal being sounded for them to march from Class Parade to their respective Lecture Rooms, the Officer of the Day turned them out, and the Adjutant of Battalion published the following order.

HEAD QUARTERS V. M. I.

Nov. 7th, 1873.

General Orders No. 48.

It is the mournful duty of the Superintendent to announce to the Professors, Officers, and Corps of Cadets, of the Virginia Military Institute, the death of Mrs. Mary Custis Lee, relict of the late Gen. Lee, the daughter of G. W. P. Custis, Esq. of Arlington, by blood the great grand daughter of Martha Washington, and by adoption the grand daughter of Gen. George Washington.

As an appropriate mark of respect to this noble Virginia lady, and to enable those connected with this Institution to attend the funeral services, which take place at the Washington Chapel at 12 o'clock to-day, academic duties will be suspended to-day from 11 o'clock.

By command of Major Gen. F. K. Smith, Jr. Adjutant V. M. I.

Our illustrious Superintendent failed to state in this order that Mrs. Lee's Mother, before her marriage, was Miss Mary Lee Fitzhugh, the daughter of William Fitzhugh and Anne Randolph. So you see, in her veins were richly commingled several streams of the noblest blood of Virginia.

At 12 o'clock her remains were borne from her house to the Chapel. The pall-bearers were Ex-Gov. Letcher, President of the Board of Visitors, Gen. F. H. Smith, Superintendent, and one or two Professors, of the V. M. I. Two Professors of the W & L University. After the ceremonies, which were conducted by her pastor Gen. Pendleton, were over in the Chapel, her remains were borne to the "Memorial Room" which is under the Chapel, and deposited in the vault by the side of those of her heroic husband. Only a few feet distant in a different part of the room—lay the remains of their daughter Agnes.

Tempting as the theme is, I will forbear to offer any eulogy on the character of this woman, so venerated and loved by the entire South—I may say linked to its history and its destiny, by so many strong and tender ties, and around whom there has gathered for years past, a degree of public sympathy and affection, which has never been attached to any other woman in the history of our country.

Yours Respectfully,
Cadet C. (of N. C.)

PERSONAL.

We had the pleasure of a call from Mr. J. C. Syme, of the editorial Staff of the Raleigh News.

We also had a call from Mr. H. K. Nash, Jr. Asst. Eng'r on the Carolina Central Railway. Mr. Nash has had the rare compliment of being retained by the Board amid a great reduction of engineering force. This compliment is as merited as conspicuous, as Mr. Nash is one of the youngest of the corps.
